

Chuunibyou Demo Koi Ga Shitai

Introduction

It's Chuunibyou. What do you want? If you haven't watched or read it, you probably don't care enough to jump it. Generic Japanese high school setting, best girl is a chuuni. Hijinks and heartwarming fluff ensue.

You get 1000cp, have fun.

---

Location

You've just arrived for your first day of high school. Your class contains a colorful cast of individuals, and it shouldn't be too hard to become friends with some of them. Good luck!

---

Origin

You're a high-schooler as of today. Other than that, you're a perfectly average student. By default, you'll have an apartment covered for the duration of your stay by your family. They will keep the utilities running, the cupboards stocked, and the landlord off your back. This will apply so long as they know you are attending school. You may at your discretion decide whether any family lives with you, or if you live alone. This apartment is the same apartment Rikka Takanashi will be living in for the foreseeable future.

---

---

Perks

Cute - 100cp

You really are quite adorable. In addition to being quite attractive, you're cute enough that you'll find people will easily look past most of your eccentric behaviors. This won't make people overlook really crazy stuff, but they'll certainly be willing to ignore some minor quirks and will even be willing to put up with larger oddities if they really care about you.

Vivid Imagination - 100cp

Your imagination transcends reality! Well, not really, but it is pretty incredible. Your mind easily calls forth fantastical delusions, more than capable of keeping you occupied within your own head. This comes with excellent improv acting skills, leaning heavily towards extreme ham. You'd certainly be capable of playing a good game of make-believe.

Reality Check - 100cp

It's not bullying, really! Sometimes the only real option you have is to smack somebody. Luckily, you're quite good at it. One good smack from you will jolt people back to reality, interrupt runaway trains of thought, or otherwise grab the attention of the person you're striking. In addition, everyone seems to understand that you mean no harm by it. So long as you are striking with the aforementioned intent, and do no real harm, nobody will begrudge you hitting people, and even those you strike will simply accept it without really minding in the long term. This can also apply to other very mild forms of bullying.

Friendly Disposition - 200cp

It's just something about you. You're able to befriend almost anyone with very little effort, even those that might not normally be so inclined. This isn't magic, and anyone with good reason to dislike you might not be susceptible to your unwitting charm, but most find themselves forming fast friendships with you in very short order. This might even extend to causing some crushes on you for those you spend a lot of time around.

Nap Time - 200cp

Napping is truly the greatest of pastimes. You have honed your napping skills to competitive levels. If your school has a napping club that attends any competitions, you'll definitely be the MVP. You can fall asleep at will and stay asleep even through the roughest circumstances should you wish it. You're also incredible at deciding how long you should nap for, able to decide exactly when you want to wake up from your snooze. Lastly, even if you've just woken up, you'll never find yourself unable to sleep. Feel free to sleep whenever and however often you want.

Master Chef - 400cp

Do you work at a famous restaurant? People might rightfully think so with the quality of your cooking. You have the equivalent of many years of culinary schooling, and tons of experience in the kitchen. You can whip up delicious meals with ease, and most importantly, you genuinely enjoy doing so. You'll never feel like cooking is a chore, and your enthusiasm for doing so shines through in your meals.

Puppy Love? - 400cp

Call it puppy love if you want, but the romances you form are beautiful. Your romantic relationships never quite lose that initial spark. You and your partners never quite get tired of each other, and always feel the same butterflies around each other that you did when you first met. In addition, problems never seem to really affect your bonds with your significant other(s). Drama is resolved swiftly, disagreements give way to compromise, and almost nothing would be able to truly harm your relationship. Even a relationship built on nothing but a crush could be forged into an unbreakable love. Who says you can't marry your high school sweetheart?

---

---

Items

School Uniform - Free

It's a school uniform. Comes with a free medical eyepatch. You get a full closet of them. Seven full outfits.

Colored Contacts – 100cp

A wide assortment of colored contact lenses. When you put them in, you'll barely even feel them, and they can make you look super cool! You have two of basically any color you could ever want.

“Cosplay” Outfit - 200cp

A custom ordered outfit that's super cool. Or at least, it'll make you look cool to anyone younger than 14, or who has childish ideas about what “cool” entails. Regardless, it's very well made, and even comes with a single costume weapon of choice. Wearing it in public might cause some questions. Comes with a free pair of Heelys. You may import an outfit to give it a super chuuni appearance if you really want to.

Cozy Apartment - 400cp

A super comfy apartment. It's got 5 rooms: a combination kitchen/living area, two bedrooms, and two bathrooms. The rent and utilities are always paid for, the cupboards are always stocked, and all necessary amenities like toilet paper and toothpaste are always present. It also has really fast Wi-Fi. This basically allows you to keep the apartment provided to you this jump in future jumps, as well as waives the restriction of being forced to attend school to keep it. After all, you're paying for it now. Anything you store in it will be retained between jumps

---

---

Companions

You get 100cp just to spend on your favorite character. How lucky.

Canon Companion - 100cp

You may choose a canon character to bring along with you. Buying this will ensure you meet them under fortuitous circumstances conducive to befriending them. You must still convince them to come along before they can come with you.

Import/Create a Companion - 50cp

You may import or create a companion to join you. Any companions imported or created through this options gain 400cp to spend on perks and items.

---

---

Drawbacks

Utah Doesn't Exist (+0cp)

Taking this drawback allows you to replace the main character: Yuuta Togashi. He will no longer resist, and your apartment will be his. He lives with his mother and little sister, though if you purchased the Cozy Apartment item, you may choose to live alone.

Cringe (+100)

It seems you can't quite handle the chuuni levels on display here. In your past, you yourself were one of them, and chuuni antics remind you of your own embarrassing years in middle school pretending to be a super edgy OC, which will cause you varying levels of distress. Direct reminders of such things will be even worse.

Making the Grade (+200)

For the duration of this jump, any perks or alt-forms you have that make you more intelligent than normal or would otherwise allow you to "cheat" in school will be disabled. If you flunk a grade of school, it will count as chain failure. Hope you're smart enough to handle Japanese high school.

Mundane Life (+300)

All purchases from outside of this jump are disabled. Not like you really need them, right? Even if it would be pretty cool to teach Rikka magic. But hey, points are points.

---

---

Notes

Dedicated to that one anon who is autistic about Rikka.

Being mean to Rikka will result in scaling enemies appearing. Okay not really but seriously don't.

Thanks to the one anon for letting me use his initial skeleton as a base. I changed most of it but I wouldn't have started without it, so I appreciate it brother.

---